After years of dealing with relationships, Randy knows exactly what needs to be done which is sometimes contrary to what many would think to do. A lot of women believe they can bring back the relationship by just acting like the "perfect" wife who does everything for their husband, but this is not right as one would quickly realize after getting into the program. The author outlines that women are very good at looking after their husbands' needs and making the ideal home for them, but forget to please their husbands and win their love

A reviewer from <http://melyourmansheartreviews.org> states, "Randy's new program is eye opening for many women and has already turned around a lot of relationships. His program is like an individualized blueprint with a workbook. For any woman that is serious about turning around their marriage, I highly recommend the program. It comes with a 60 day money back guarantee so you can't lose."
