The excitement surrounding the program's release as caught the attention of HonestyFirstReviews.com's Tiffany Hendricks prompting an in-depth, investigative review.

"Over the past couple of years 'marketing sales funnels' and sales funnel optimization have become incredibly hot topics among online marketers," says Hendricks. "People are realizing that in order to compete they need to maximize both conversions as well as lifetime customer value, and a well built, optimized funnel is without a doubt the key factor in achieving these goals. We are constantly receiving inquiries regarding the best resources for people looking to improve their funnels or build new ones, but until now the only option available was to hire a high priced consultant. So, when we heard about Todd Brown's Six-Figure Funnel Formula we were eager to review it for our website visitors. Brown is by all accounts the world's leading expert on marketing funnels, and we wanting to get the low-down on what exactly he was teaching in his new program."

The Six-Figure Funnel Formula is available digitally online allowing customers instant lifetime access to all training modules, PDF guides, an "Ultimate Marketing Funnel Cheat Sheet Collection", access to a private customer only Facebook community, and four weeks of group coaching and question and answer calls with Brown during which one can get answers from Brown directly, as well as many additional resources and bonuses. (A full product description is available here.)

"Our Six-Figure Funnel Formula review explains that the course is very well organized into twelve step-by-step modules that walk users through every step of marketing funnel creation," says Hendricks. "It's easy to get overwhelmed when thinking about funnels, because there are just so many moving parts, from capturing leads, to creating VSLs, to designing upsells and follow-up sequences. One of the things that makes Brown's training so exceptional is the fact that he has broken each of these components down into bite size, digestible chunks that can easy be consumed and implemented, even by novice marketers. The program is extremely comprehensive, and we are highly recommending this course as the best training available on building and optimizing funnels."
