Social Networking Website for Anyone Interested in

Co-Ownership

Baltimore, MD- Co-Own.co is an internet company that links its users to buy products that would otherwise be out of their reach without combined buying power. These products include vehicles, property, business startups, and services.

Co-Own.co is a website for anyone business minded who has an interest in potentially co-owning items for the purpose of recreation, real estate investment, and business ownership. Co-Own.Co provides its users with the opportunity to potentially co-own anything. From businesses, to properties, and anything in between, the only limit is our user's imagination. Co-Own.Co allows its users to share their business dreams in a safe and friendly environment. Users are able to find people in their area by posting co-ownership opportunities regionally. Users may begin with a public post or a response to someone else's post. After users are comfortable with each other, they may privately message each other using Co-own's private message feature.

Co-own allows its users to share business ideas with like minded people who will share the cost and sweat equity necessary to make the intangible tangible, to turn a pipe dream into a real business or shared property.

Our mission is to provide our users with the opportunity to post and discuss co-ownership opportunities with people they never would have met on their own. Co-own is based upon the principal that people's dreams can be realized if they have power in numbers.
