The Challenge

In the eternal quest for greater profits, organizations must improve performance, streamline processes and cut costs. Accessing valuable data in a way that creates business insights is a constant business struggle.

Not having the right information at the right time, has a negative effect on profit. In a Business Week poll of executives, 79% confirmed they either have "not enough" or "too much" information to make decisions.

Consulting Services

To operate at peak performance, our experts work with your executives, finance, business "line managers" and IT department. We are experts at integrating corporate and departmental model cost scenarios as well as performing sensitivity analysis. With this vital information, you will be able to set operational budgets which align to your strategic goals and provide a true view of the health of your organization.

Our highly experienced consultants utilize best practices to unlock critical operational and financial information, providing an efficient, fast and reliable way to access your information; while simplifying your planning processes.

Managed Services

Our SAP managed service takes on the operational responsibility of your SAP® BPC and BI applications. We proactively manage the availability, configuration and performance of these critical applications to ensure that your business data is accurate and available.   Now you are enabled to make intelligent decisions, which positively impact your company's performance.
