

EarthBend Hires Greg Woods as Vice President of Consulting Services

EarthBend Continues to Enhance IT Services Portfolio

SIoux FALLS, SD – 6/18/2014 – EarthBend announced today its continued expansion of their Information Technology professional services with the addition of Greg Woods as their new Vice President of Consulting Services. Woods comes to EarthBend from Great Western Bank where he served as Chief Information Officer and prior to that he held strategic IT leadership positions at Wells Fargo including VP of Data Management and Technical Services. He brings over 15 years of experience in Information Technology strategic planning, regulatory compliance and risk management. In this role, Woods will work closely with EarthBend's leadership, engineering and sales teams to enhance and expand their services and consulting business.

"Greg brings experience and a unique perspective to our business and he is a welcomed addition to our team" says CEO Rob Beyer. "Greg is an incredibly talented executive with the rare ability to deeply understand technology, business strategy, compliance and analytics to fit the needs of today's IT decision makers. Greg's hire is a validation of EarthBend's proactive technology approach and value proposition. As Vice President of Consulting Services, Greg will work to ensure customer needs are met with applicable IT infrastructure solutions, from Strategic Planning and Compliance to onsite staffing and managed services.

EarthBend customers can expect a forward-thinking approach in aligning technology strategies with their business needs. Greg brings a high standard of professionalism, energy, knowledge and leadership to the EarthBend team. This announcement further enhances EarthBend's ability to provide the best proactive technology consulting, services, architecture and deployment and will significantly strengthen the company's Midwest regional presence.

"I am excited to join an accomplished and talented group of professionals at EarthBend. We will deliver significant value to local businesses through EarthBend Technology Consulting Services" says Woods. Greg lives in Sioux Falls with his family and will be based out of our Sioux Falls, SD headquarters
