

Learning Management Services

We can offer your organization different levels of focused, dedicated consultancy about how you can take advantage of online learning. Our complete consultancy service operates a four-stage process.

There are many different of models of Online Education, ranging from full collaboration between 'experts' and participants, to short courses delivered via CD-Rom where participants interact with learning materials for 10-15 minutes at a time. We provide you with a report on the appropriateness of different models and approaches in your individual situation, and we will highlight the advantages and disadvantages of each for your organization.

We offer focused and dedicated consultancy to you to take advantage of online learning.

Our Techniques

- » Identifying opportunities for e-learning
- » Assessing your capability to adopt e-learning
- » Providing practical recommendations
- » Evaluating your e-learning initiatives

Instructional Design Services

- » Initial consultation on course objectives and design
- » Continual access to project progress reports
- » A full editorial service
- » Course website design and hosting
- » Online discussion facilities
- » Training of online facilitators
- » Course management support
- » Post-course evaluation and reporting

Our Team

Our team will help you to evaluate your first online course, to prove its value to your sponsors. We will work with you to produce an evaluation report on the course, with recommendations about how to improve and develop it. Wherever possible we will aim to author case studies and journal articles about your course in order to give your innovative training developments, and our role in them, a high profile which will help you to implement further successful iterations of the courses and even to make further bids for development funding.

When the course website is ready and your facilitators are prepared, what do you do next?

Contact Us

info@radcorporation.com www.radcorporation.com