“Being comfortable is such a powerful tool for building confidence and projecting strength. Unfortunately, in the world of fashion, comfort is a rarity. Between sky-high stilettos, skin-tight pencil skirts and inappropriately sheer dresses, being fashionable and being comfortable seem to be at odds with each other. This put women at an unfair disadvantage. Luxxie Boston bridges the gap. It is a second skin that feels perfect no matter what a I’m wearing. Whether I’m feeling self-conscious in a clingy dress, or uncomfortable in an itchy suit, a Luxxie melts away wardrobe insecurities with the magic of comfort. Because it’s not enough that you look powerful and confident in your clothes, you have to actually feel powerful and confident. “
