Women Veterans Interactive Announces Clinton Global Initiative Commitment to Action
CEO Ginger Miller to Attend CGI America 2014

WASHINGTON, D.C. (JUNE 24, 2014) -- Women Veterans Interactive leadership will participate in the upcoming Clinton Global Initiative America (CGI America) meeting, June 23-25 in Denver, Colorado. This working meeting brings together leaders across the country to develop solutions that promote the economic recovery and long-term competitiveness of the United States.

WVI will join the CGI Workforce Development Working Group and will be part of the conversation when the group develops solutions for building sector-specific approaches to training and education and investing in innovative tools for skills development. This focus is directly in line with WVI's mission. Women veterans are the fastest growing population of homeless women veterans with underemployment and unemployment as a major contributor. Our CGI Commitment to Action focuses on empowering military and veteran women through workforce development with a primary focus of participants achieving gainful employment.

“As the founder and CEO of WVI, I am humbled to be part of this group of visionary leaders,” said Ginger Miller. “At WVI, we use innovative, grassroots approaches to help women service members in need.”

In addition to leading WVI, Miller serves as the Chairwoman of the Commission for Veterans in Prince George's County, Md. The White House also recognized her in 2013 as a Champion of Change for Women Veterans.

About Women Veterans Interactive

Women Veterans Interactive (WVI) was created to address the unique, and often unrecognized, challenges facing our nation's 1.8 million women veterans as they return to civilian life. Their mission, “Meeting Women Veterans at Their Points of Need through Advocacy, Empowerment, Interaction, Outreach and Unification – AEIOU,” emphasizes a proactive approach to ensuring women veterans are not alone in the fight to better their lives and the lives of their families. About Clinton Global Initiative America

The Clinton Global Initiative America (CGI America), a program of the Clinton Global Initiative, addresses economic recovery in the United States. Established in June 2011 by President Bill Clinton, CGI America brings together leaders in business, government, and civil society to generate and implement commitments to create jobs, stimulate economic growth, foster innovation, and support workforce development in the United States. Since its first meeting, CGI

America participants have made over 300 commitments valued at more than $15 billion when fully funded and implemented. To learn more, visit cgiamerica.org.

Established in 2005 by President Bill Clinton, the Clinton Global Initiative (CGI), an initiative of the Bill, Hillary & Chelsea Clinton Foundation, convenes global leaders year-round and at its Annual Meeting to create and implement solutions to the world's most pressing challenges. CGI also convenes CGI University, which brings together undergraduate and graduate students to address pressing challenges in their communities and around the world. To date, members of the CGI community have made more than 2,800 Commitments to Action, which are already improving the lives of more than 430 million people in over 180 countries. When fully funded and implemented, these commitments will be valued at $103 billion.
