Scott Felder Homes Wins Six Times at Summit Awards

The company netted a total of three category-specific wins in Best Product Design and three additional awards for their marketing practices.

(San Antonio, Texas – July 21, 2014) – On Saturday July 12th, homebuilder Scott Felder Homes was presented with six awards at the Summit Awards, hosted by the Greater San Antonio Builders Association at the Omni Colonnade. In addition to the wins at the Summit Awards, the company has recently been named the 2012, 2013 and 2014 Volume Builder of the Year by the Home Builders Association of Greater Austin and the Volume Builder of the Year in 2012 and 2013 by the Texas Association of Builders.

“This is two years in a row we have been awarded at the Summit Awards,” said Scott Felder, CEO of Scott Felder Homes, “We are quite humbled and proud to be honored amongst other talented builders in the industry and to be recognized for our work in San Antonio.”

The Summit Awards recognizes outstanding achievements in construction, remodeling and land development by Texas homebuilders in the San Antonio area. Entries are judged by a panel of industry professionals from across the nation.

Scott Felder Homes was recognized for their innovative floor plans, interior model designs and their individual marketing practices, including:

- Best Product Design: $250k+ Garden Home – Dominion Model – San Juan Plan – House Only
- Best Product Design: $200-250k in Lonestar at Alamo Ranch – Grigsby Plan – House Only
- Best Product Design: $300-400k in Terra Bella – Kennedy II Plan – House Only
- Best Design Showroom – Design Studio
- Best Sales Brochure
- Best TV Commercial

The Scott Felder Homes team invites the public to experience the award-winning designs for themselves by visiting one of our communities.

About the Greater San Antonio Builders Association

The Summit Awards is presented by the Greater San Antonio Builders Association, a not-for-profit trade association established to represent builders, developers, remodelers and affiliated industry members in cooperation to benefit and promote home-ownership.
