THE JONES COMPANY PURCHASES PROPERTY ADJACENT TO NEW WILLIAMSON CO. SCHOOLS FOR NEW COMMUNITY
Construction for 249 Nolensville home lots to be built by The Jones Company and Drees Homes

NASHVILLE, Tenn. – The Jones Company, a Nashville-based home builder, has closed on the property for a new Nolensville neighborhood called Summerlyn. The neighborhood is adjacent to the planned Williamson County school campus that will include Nolensville High, Mill Creek Middle and Mill Creek Elementary. The neighborhood will include 249 home lots that will be built on by both The Jones Company and Drees Homes.

The Summerlyn neighborhood is located on 151 acres in Nolensville near the intersection of Nolensville Pike and York Road. The homes are expected to be priced from the $290s and range from about 1,800 to 4,000 square feet. Three series of homes will be available in multiple sizes, floor plans, and customizable options.

"Nolensville is a growing community, and the proximity to the new schools will make this neighborhood an ideal location for families," said Kenneth Stricker, The Jones Company CEO. "We are really excited about all that this neighborhood is going to offer our homebuyers, including a planned amenity package with a pool and cabana, open space, and approximately one mile of walking trails. Plans are even in place for a pedestrian bridge that will connect to the future schools."

Development work will begin immediately with home construction slated to begin later this year. For more information on Summerlyn, one can sign up for neighborhood news and updates at www.liveatsummerlyn.com. For more information on The Jones Company, see www.LiveJones.com.
