GRM EXPANDS TEXAS FOOTPRINT INTO DALLAS AND AUSTIN

September 11, 2014

Jersey City, New Jersey-- GRM, a leader in full cycle records management, today announced its entry into the Dallas and Austin, Texas markets. Along with GRM's existing Houston location, the company now has three fully staffed, fully operational facilities serving customers in the Lone Star State.

While Dallas is a location that was completely initiated and developed by GRM, Austin is the result of GRM acquiring Austin Archives, a premier document storage company serving Central Texas.

"We are extremely excited about these two new, highly strategic locations," said GRM Executive Vice President, Jerry Glatt, "that continue our momentum in the Southwest and our ongoing commitment to growth. With Dallas a top-ten U.S. market and Austin, one of America's fastest growing cities, these markets are key to widening the geographic and vertical reach of our services."

Dallas and Austin combine with additional recent GRM openings in Houston, Baltimore, Boston and Indianapolis, for a total of six new major U.S. markets entered in just the past three years. During the same period, GRM has also grown its presence in China and opened a South American location in Lima, Peru.

"What's especially great about our Austin Archives acquisition," added Mr. Glatt, "is that the entire current staff is staying with GRM, including Heidi Patterson, the Operations Manager. Better still, GRM is acquiring many of Austin Archives' marquee customers and already has service requests from existing customers moving into the market."
