A Dot Inspired Christmas

by The Linen Works

Renowned for their quality washed linen products in soft, muted colours, The Linen Works are delighted to present their Gift List for Christmas 2014.

The list features some exciting new products including their new Dot1 printed linen range, both designed and printed in London, plus further additions to their plain linens palette: Charcoal and Duck Egg.

September 2014

In the Bedroom - Understated Luxury

The Linen Works have introduced new Lens Charcoal to their Bedroom range. This looks striking combined with Dove Grey or Classic White.

Lens got its name from the new Louvre museum, opened on the site of a former mining town in Northern France. The building, comprised of vast sheets of tinted glass, sits on a disused coalmine, homage to a once-thriving coal industry.

Marina Guirey, Creative Director of The Linen Works says:

“Charcoal is a dominant trend this season, prevalent both as a paint colour, but also in textiles. It joins our bestselling Parisian Blue as one of our darker accent colours.”

Also for the bedroom are new Dot printed pillowcases in 5 different colourways including Mustard, Charcoal, Duck Egg and Grey. These are designed to complement their existing bedlinen range.

Marina Guirey, says:

“The new printed Dot design adds an extra dimension of interest to our plain linen range and is very much intended to work in harmony with it.”
