LEARN

ISSP is the largest professional organization for sustainability professionals in the world. Our annual conference typically attracts 300+ attendees from all over the US and elsewhere.

Join sustainability champions from around the globe to network, learn and help shape the profession. The conference will be a rich learning experience specially designed to build the skills, knowledge, and connections necessary to accelerate the adoption of sustainability in organizations and communities around the world.

CONNECT

Keynote speakers include Joel Makower, Chairman and Executive Editor of GreenBiz Group Inc., and Andrew Mangan, Executive Director, United States Business Council for Sustainable Development.

A great line-up of presenters and panelists will explore sustainability's hottest topics, including:

- Water Stewardship
- Sustainability Accreditation
- Sustainable Supply Chains
- Sustainability Auditing Systems
- Employee Engagement

CO-CREATE

At the conference, the newest inductees into the ISSP Sustainability Hall of Fame will be honored. ISSP Founder Marsha Willard will lead a Wisdom Panel discussion among Hall of Fame members.

The conference will also include an exhibition where vendors will showcase the latest products and services of interest to sustainability professionals.
