Woodbridge, NJ, Oct 07, 2014 — iPatientCare, Inc., a pioneer in mHealth and cloud-based ambulatory EHR and integrated Practice Management announced the successful adoption of its clinically-driven Revenue Cycle Management (RCM) Service by esteemed users.

iPatientCare’s EHR delivers guidance at every step of the clinical documentation, and hence the resultant super bill itself reflects far better compliant to the payers’ adjudication system. It is no surprise that iPatientCare RCM boasts of 98% first pass acceptance! With the fast approaching Meaningful Use Stage 2, physicians’ offices would have to be prepared to implement Patient Portal and broad range of interoperability for the “Transition of Care”. Adopting to a Web based EHR and Billing System that lend themselves to clinically-driven Revenue Cycle Management, iPatientCare seems to be a recommended choice.

“Only a few months of using iPatientCare RCM made our day–today billing issues easy and we believe iPatientCare is the right solution for our billing in addition to handling our claims more efficiently”, said Ramesh Reddy, MD, Decaturville, TN. He added further, “iPatientCare’s integrated software has helped us to keep track of money owed by payers and patients when they come to see us at the office. The RCM team is very knowledgeable, efficient, and courteous. Their attention to detail is very good. iPatientCare RCM gives us more time to take care of other areas of the practice, including patient care.”

Our Clinically-driven Revenue Cycle Management Services, a one-stop and integrated solution enables physicians’ offices assured charge capture, 98% claims pass-through, efficient A/R follow-ups, and increased collections and revenues.” said Shahab Shaikh, Enterprise Integration Specialist, iPatientCare.
