Comprehensive Training Courses Available on New E-Commerce Site for Life Insurance and Financial Industry Professionals Worldwide

The LOGiQ³ Underwriting Training Program and Deposit Broker Anti-Money Laundering Course is now available for purchase through newly launched e-store.

Toronto, ON, October 10, 2014 - LOGiQ³ Corp., expert provider of life insurance and reinsurance consulting and outsourcing services, today announced the launch of their new e-commerce site. The company, which prides itself on its one-of-a-kind Underwriting Training Program, will be offering all existing training modules to individuals and companies on a global scale through its online platform.

“Our E-Learning program has been available to the market since 2012. We are now further shortening the time needed by students to gain their professional education, whether that’s in the field of Underwriting, Deposit Broker Distribution Channel, or Financial Planning, by transacting in real time through our e-commerce site,” states Natalie Ho, Vice President, Sales & Marketing, LOGiQ³.

The LOGiQ³ Underwriting E-Learning Training Program is currently made up of 27 modules covering over 200 topics (medical, non-medical and financial risks) designed to teach users the risk selection process – what is required for each risk, why, and the possible outcome of the risk as well as favorable and unfavorable case scenarios.

The courses are suitable for individuals in Underwriting roles and those in Life Insurance Sales and Distribution roles, who are looking to improve their understanding of the Underwriting process.

In addition, LOGiQ³ has launched a new Anti-Money Laundering (AML) course designed for the Deposit Broker industry, also now available for sale at $85 per course. This course was written in collaboration with some of Canada’s largest Financial Institutions in continuous efforts to build a comprehensive compliance solution for the Deposit Broker channel in increasing efficiencies.

Simon Bell, COO of LOGiQ³ comments, “Offering our E-Learning training modules through the new site is just the start. In the near future, we hope to add industry research papers, consulting value propositions, and much more to our family of e-commerce offerings.”

For Release: October, 2014

All available E-Learning modules have been accredited by the Institute of Advanced Financial Education in Canada, recognized by Advocis Membership as well as CLU and CHS designations. Modules range in price from $85 to $265, all prices indicated are in Canadian dollar.

LOGIQ³ is currently running attractive promotional offers to celebrate the launch of their e-commerce site.
