The Thursday open house at TLC on Democracy affords parents the opportunity to ask questions, tour the facility, and learn more about the TLC philosophy to child development. With children spending up to 50 hours a week at a child care facility, finding the right center can truly make a difference in the early years of development. TLC has shown positive results in helping children find the best start possible by adhering to its proven curriculum and hiring attentive and expert staff. The school's stated objective is to foster a life-long love of learning, which is accomplished through a mix of learning, nurturing, and fun.

"Open houses are an exciting time for us, as we love talking to parents about how we can help their kids," said Lori Stewards, Executive Director of TLC Schools. "I think when parents attend these events, see our facilities, and talk to our staff, our program really starts to click for them and they understand why our schools have such a positive reputation."

The open house welcomes all parents and does not require an appointment. To enter to win one of two family packs to Halloween Nights at the Zoo, however, parents must complete this form and attend the open house on October 23 from 5:30 pm to 7:00 pm.
