HockeyTech Acquires LeagueStat

HockeyTech expands its world leading technology, analytics and information service offerings by acquiring LeagueStat, the dominant hockey scoring and stats solution used by elite hockey leagues and teams.

November 11 2014 [Guelph, Ontario] – HockeyTech announces the acquisition of LeagueStat, the world’s leading hockey scoring and stats technology used by elite hockey leagues. Founded in 1999, LeagueStat powers the scorekeeping of such elite hockey leagues as the AHL, ECHL, CHL, OHL, QMJHL and WHL.

LeagueStat technology is used by league officials to tabulate the official statistics at hockey games. In real time, those game stats immediately feed to league, team and media websites and mobile apps for fan consumption. The stats are mission critical for league and team management and analytics. LeagueStat also designs and maintains websites and mobile apps for customers tightly integrated with game stats, providing a true turnkey solution for all users:

- League Leadership and Administrators
- Team Hockey Operations (GM, Coaches, Scouts)
- Team/League Analytics
- Team Marketing
- Scorekeepers
- Officials
- Media
- Fans

"For more than a decade, we've been working with elite hockey leagues to run the mission critical function of scoring games with LeagueStat", says Cary Moretti, LeagueStat founder. "While we are very proud of what we have accomplished to date, integrating our offerings with HockeyTech will enable to create product offerings that the hockey world has never seen before ."

Cary Moretti, founder and CEO of LeagueStat, has joined HockeyTech as Vice President. LeagueStat operations will be consolidated into HockeyTech’s Canadian headquarters in Guelph, Ontario.

"The acquisition of LeagueStat enables HockeyTech to continue its mission in leading the hockey world with the most comprehensive offering of player information management technologies and analytics tools", says HockeyTech CEO Stu Siegel. "We are most excited about the incredible technologies, key customer relationships and dedicated employees coming to us through this merger with LeagueStat."

About HockeyTech

HockeyTech is a worldwide leader in providing hockey-related technologies, analytics and information services. The company was founded in 2013 by Stu Siegel (technology entrepreneur and former Florida Panthers Managing Partner/CEO) with the mission of impacting the hockey world through new technologies and advanced analytics services. While HockeyTech is a new corporate identity, its brands have been providing cutting-edge solutions to the hockey world since 1998. At HockeyTech’s core is its Hockey Information and Scouting System, which is the world’s largest data repository on hockey player, team, and league information. Our client teams, leagues and organizations rely upon our cloud-based system to manage their vital player, prospect and game information in a secure environment.
