

Allen IPS Integrations

Allen Technologies Interactive Patient Systems are designed to integrate with a variety of health information systems to improve the patient experience, streamline clinical processes, and reduce hospital operating costs. Some of the systems that we can integrate with are:

Allen Technologies provides several types of integration with electronic medical records (EMR) and health information systems (HIS). Key integrations available from Allen Technologies are:

- Medication Listing: A listing of medications that the patient has been prescribed while in the hospital, has used at home pre-hospitalization, and for use after discharge.
- Care Team Information: The name, photo, credentials, experience and other care team member information.
- Prescribe Patient Education: Allows clinical staff to prescribe patient education in their HIS/EMR and send to the patient for viewing.
- Reporting Patient Education Results: After the patient has watched educational content on the IPS, the system writes backs or sends the results to the EMR/HIS.
- Patient White Board: The patient name, planned discharge date, planned goals, and other information typically found on "whiteboards" within patient rooms.

- Patient Health Information: Provides key health information directly to the patient from the EMR or HIS including lab results, vitals and radiology results.

The level of detail for each integration depends upon the Allen Technology product purchased and the availability of information from the hospital information system. Allen Technologies will work with the hospital team to scope the proper solution for your specific hospital environment.
