TenKod and i3 Consult Announce Partnership in Germany
The partnership will facilitate efficient mobile application testing, reduce costs and enhance results to test automation developers

HAIFA, November 28, 2014 – TenKod, a software vendor which develops EZ TestApp, the leading mobile application testing solution recently announced a partnership with i3 Consult International, a leading expert in IT and software development projects. The goal of the partnership is to facilitate systematic Android and iOS applications testing done by EZ TestApp, improve the overall quality of the product and bring down costs.

"We are pleased to link up with TenKod as we see plenty of potential with the company's product," said Torsten Zimmermann, CEO of i3 Consult. Zimmermann goes on to say that, "EZ TestApp is undoubtedly the market leader in Android and iOS mobile applications test automation and being the forerunner in this industry, we foresee widespread success with this product and want to be a part of it."

The purpose of EZ TestApp is to leverage and utilize the entire process of mobile development testing. The product promises to offer users high-quality results at a fraction of the cost of conventional programs currently available on the market. With the help of i3 Consult, the program's overall cost, time spent, and difficulties faced within each development phase is projected to be significantly reduced.

According to TenKod CEO, Asaf Saar, "This partnership will elevate both group's capabilities and positioning in new markets." Saar adds, "We can now efficiently deliver our out-of-the-box mobile test automation and continuous integration technology on real mobile devices and help our customers to reduce costs, improve the product's quality and cultivate the best results."

The partnership of TenKod and i3 Consult represents a mutual goal between these two companies. Both CEOs have agreed that working together will bring their companies closer to achieving publicly available mobile test automation services that is highly advanced yet very simple to use.
