LynnCo Selected by CIO Review as Top 20 Most Promising

CIO Review Magazine has recognized LynnCo Supply Chain Solutions as one of America's most promising supply chain solution providers.

Tulsa, OK: LynnCo Supply Chain Solutions, a leading supply chain company headquartered in Tulsa, Oklahoma, has been recognized as one of the top 20 most promising supply chain solution providers for 2014 by CIO Review, a publication focused on enterprise technology solutions capable of redefining an organization's future business goals.

CIO Review serves as a neutral source of information for decision makers seeking to identify "the best" in a variety of areas important to technology-driven businesses. To help CTOs, CIOs, and CEOs find the right supply chain solutions, the editorial research team at CIO Review analyzed more than 300 companies that own innovative technologies and methodologies. In the selection process, CIO Review looked at the capability to fulfill the needs of cost-effective and flexible solutions that add value to the complex supply chain landscape and support strategy alignment powered by technology.

With a focus on enhancing performance of complex supply chains through industry expertise and state-of-the-art solutions, LynnCo's successful deployment of advanced technology supporting complex supply chains won it a spot on the top 20 list. Since its founding, LynnCo has committed to implementing evolutionary programs using groundbreaking best practices that result in optimal supply chains.

President Wendy Buxton says, "LynnCo is honored to be included in the Top 20 list of most promising supply chain solution providers by CIO Review. As a leading provider of strategic and value-add supply chain services, we are pleased to be set apart amongst a vast market of competitors."
