

Executive Search Firm Slone Partners Expands With New San Francisco Office

WASHINGTON, DC – Jan 15, 2015

Slone Partners, a national recruitment firm for the diagnostic, biopharmaceutical, healthcare information technology, and laboratory testing industries, is expanding with the addition of a dedicated San Francisco office.

Since its founding in 2000, Slone Partners has experienced continual, significant growth in its Bay Area client base, and it has been a regular presence at Bay Area meetings such as the JP Morgan Healthcare Conference, Molecular Med TRI-CON, and the Personalized Medicine World Conference, among others. Slone Partners is also an active member of the California Biomedical Innovation Alliance, recently formed by the merger of BayBio and the California Healthcare Institute.

The new office, led by President Tara Kochis, will provide immediate access to growing, innovating companies in the diagnostics and personalized medicine industries and the vital capital markets that fund that innovation.

“The Bay Area is a hotbed for medical innovation and scientific investment. To meet the needs of our growing client base and this crucial industry, we are expanding our resources to engage directly with the companies and individuals who are doing this important work,” Ms. Kochis said.

The new office is located at One Embarcadero Center in the Financial District.

Slone Partners is a premier national recruitment firm that specializes in delivering board, executive, leadership, and scientific talent for the diagnostics, biopharmaceutical, healthcare information technology, and laboratory testing industries. Since 2000, it has worked with cutting-edge, demanding organizations to attract and hire the best industry talent.
