

Pam Downs Joins Iris Data Services
Downs to Lead Iris' Corporate Consulting Practice

Kansas City, January 29, 2015 – Iris Data Services, the global leader in eDiscovery managed services, has hired Pam Downs as the director of consulting. Wielding over 25 years of experience in corporate consulting, litigation, and law firm management, Pam has a track record of successfully managing complex eDiscovery challenges.

As the director of consulting at Iris, Pam will conduct best practice and discovery preparedness assessments, litigation support assessments, and business planning reviews for law firm and corporate clients. Pam will also be available to help clients manage legal hold, identification, preservation, collection, and production challenges.

“Pam has worked heavily with Fortune 50 companies and Am Law 200 firms,” said Damon Goduto, co-founder and vice president of sales at Iris. “We are happy to have her as a part of our team and as a resource for our clients.”

“I’ve personally learned a ton from Pam throughout my years in this industry,” said Adi Elliott, Iris’ vice president of marketing. “It’s really cool to now have the opportunity to be on the same team. The amount of eDiscovery talent at Iris makes coming into work every day a lot of fun.”

“Iris has been very entrepreneurial. They are invested in providing the right combination of technology, processes, and people for their clients. I believe their approach to managed services is the immediate future of eDiscovery,” said Pam. “I’m excited to be a part of taking their corporate practice to the next level.”

Pam has an extensive background in litigation support and has managed large-scale discovery projects as well as litigation database applications. She has experience in IP, tobacco, pharmaceutical, MDL, toxic tort, international privacy, regulatory inquiry, white-collar crime, estate administration, and general products liability litigation.
