

PHIL MCKINNEY JOINS NEWCLOUD EXECUTIVE ADVISORY BOARD

Former Hewlett Packard Chief Technology Officer, McKinney Adds Diverse, Enterprise-Level Perspective to Board Comprised of Industry Innovators and NewCloud Partners.

DENVER TECH CENTER, CO – February 12, 2015 – NewCloud Networks, a national cloud computing and communications provider, today announced Phil McKinney, former chief technology officer for Hewlett Packard, has joined the company’s Executive Cloud Advisory Board. An accomplished, award-winning technology executive and author, McKinney brings more than 25 years of experience and enterprise-level executive perspective to NewCloud’s board.

“The addition of Phil McKinney to the NewCloud Executive Cloud Advisory Board provides invaluable perspective as we can continue to grow,” said Sam V. Kumar, founder and president of NewCloud Networks. “Phil joins industry leaders such as Balan Nair, executive vice president at Liberty Global, and executives from our partner ecosystem in creating a balanced, informed voice for effective change.”

The Executive Cloud Advisory Board was formed to support NewCloud’s national expansion plan for 2015. The board will also advise Sam V. Kumar on the overall corporate vision and management goals of NewCloud Networks. The initial board meeting is scheduled for March 2015.
