

The Financial Benefits of Choosing Allsup SSDI Representation

More than 1.8 million people are waiting to learn if they will receive their Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits. Newcomers to the complex SSDI application process may not be fully aware of their options when seeking help or the average length of time to receive benefits, which can typically take two to four years.

We understand the monetary strain a disability can have on your finances. We know you've worked hard over the years and would like to preserve your savings. Even though your impairment prevents you from working, with SSDI you can continue to receive a monthly income. Allsup focuses on getting your benefits at the earliest possible level and as soon as possible to secure your long-term financial benefits.

One-Time Fee with No Extra Costs

The fee for SSDI representation by any organization—such as Allsup or an attorney—is determined by the SSA and is a one-time percentage of any retroactive benefits you are due. Currently, under the SSA's fee agreement approval process, it is 25 percent of the retroactive dollar amount, not to exceed $6,000. Allsup only charges a one-time fee if your claim is approved, so we get paid only if you receive benefits. There are no other fees and we do not charge for expenses such as travel or for collecting medical records as other organizations might.

Below is a sample calculation of how small Allsup's fee is compared to the long-term financial benefits you may receive.

Customer:	Alex
Age:	42
Received Benefits:	10 months after becoming eligible
Monthly Benefit:	$1,000
Retroactive Benefits Received:	$10,000 (10 months x $1,000)
One-Time Allsup Fee:	$2,500 (25% x $10,000)
Immediate Customer Income:	$7,500
Future Annual Benefits:	$12,000 (plus any cost-of-living increases)

Example A (see box above): If you receive a $1,000 monthly benefit and the benefit is retroactive 10 months ($10,000), your representation fee would be $2,500 (25 percent x $10,000).

Example B: If you receive a $1,000 monthly benefit and it takes 42 months to receive your benefit, your representation fee would be capped at $6,000 on the $42,000 retroactive amount rather than $10,500 (25 percent x $42,000).

Once the initial benefits are received, regular monthly benefits begin.

Ongoing benefits with an annual benefit of $12,000 a year:

10 years = $120,000 + cost-of-living increases

20 years = $240,000 + cost-of-living increases

30 years = $360,000 + cost-of-living increases

In addition to financial benefits, there are many other advantages for considering Allsup, including:

High Success Rate

Allsup consistently gains SSDI benefits for its customers. Our 97 percent success rate for all customers who complete the SSDI process with us far exceeds the national average of those applying for Social Security disability benefits without professional representation.

No-Cost Healthcare Insurance Assistance

Allsup customers receive free healthcare insurance assistance before and after receiving SSDI benefits. We can help you choose and enroll in a Medicare plan upon eligibility for benefits. A Certified Application Counselor (CAC) may also be able to assist you with healthcare insurance, such as determining your eligibility for health insurance marketplace plans or Medicaid, while you're waiting to receive benefits. Your family members can also receive assistance from Allsup.

Specialization in the Industry

Allsup employs multiple claims representatives and specialists who are experts in handling SSDI claims in local communities across the country. Other types of paid representatives such as law firms may or may not have attorneys dedicated solely to SSDI claims.

Knowledge and Experience

Our expert claims representatives specialize in SSDI and understand the complexities and nuances of the process. For more than 30 years, Allsup's knowledgeable staff has been serving individuals with disabilities and working closely with the Social Security Administration (SSA). During this time, we have helped more than 250,000 people with disabilities receive their entitled SSDI benefits.

Representation at Local Hearings

Approximately one-quarter of SSDI cases proceed to the hearing level, which is when the claim comes before an administrative law judge (ALJ). If your claim does reach this level, Allsup has experts located across the country who will personally represent you at local hearings.

Understanding your Disability

The SSA has specific disability impairment criteria for hundreds of medical conditions. Allsup representatives are experienced in working with a variety of disabilities and knowledgeable about the impairment criteria to prepare each case with details and in the language required by the SSA to avoid unnecessary delays, reduced benefits or denial of benefits.

Regular Status Updates

Your Allsup claims representative will monitor the status of your claim and keep you informed on a regular basis. We'll update you on the progress of your application, including timely notices of impending deadlines, scheduled hearings, or when to submit additional documents.

You can also join Allsup Place[®], our secure online community and take advantage of the many features and benefits that Allsup Place offers, such as checking the status of your disability claim and locating resources customized for your needs.

Guidance throughout the Process

Allsup accepts customers at all claim levels throughout the SSDI process. We make sure all Social Security forms are completely and properly filled out and submitted. We also gather relevant medical records and data from your healthcare professionals to remove the burden from you. Our success rates are higher than the national average, including both the initial application and reconsideration phases. This means more people who appoint Allsup receive their benefits faster and may avoid attending a hearing or having their case go to the Appeals Council.

Overall, by choosing Allsup as your SSDI representative, you are increasing your chances for success. Customers who choose Allsup usually get their benefits faster. It's important to remember that the sooner you can get through the SSDI process, the sooner you will receive regular monthly income and the benefits you deserve. That's the Allsup advantage.
