

Three Partners for Education. One Solution.

theconnectEDU

Samsung, Google and Hypersign have joined forces to create the next generation of digital signage, exclusively for Education. This trisected ecosystem has created an innovative and reliable solution to easily display and send out messages within a school or university - from standard campus broadcasts to emergency alerts.

This solution, powered by an award winning graphical management tool, will allow school officials to manage compelling content ranging from live HDTV, to animated presentations, to impactful emergency messaging. Combining this tool with the processing power of the Chromebox and Samsung Commercial Displays will create an effective communication experience like no other.

What does the connect EDU mean for your school?

Innovative Digital Signage

Hypersign is a 100% cloud based, easy to use digital signage platform that allows users to create and publish a wide range of content which can be distributed throughout your entire digital signage network, all from one central location.

Powerfull Chrome Devices

The Chromebox connects your school environment seamlessly. Access important information and stay connected, quickly and securely.

Samsung Commercial Displays

Samsung Commercial Displays make an impact on your audience, not on your budget. Incorporate the best picture quality, design and energy efficiency into your campus.

Easy Device Management

Google's Chrome Device Management Suite allows administrators to manage their organization's Chrome devices (like the Chromebox) from one central dashboard which can be accessed from anywhere at any time.
