

'Rewind of Microsoft Ignite' to Revisit Key Takeaways from Microsoft's Biggest Conference

The event will bring attendees face-to-face with Atrion Microsoft experts to cover Ignite sessions.

Warwick, R.I.—June 8, 2015— Boasting more than 750 sessions and ample keynotes, Microsoft Ignite can be difficult to navigate, at best. What's more, after the event, attendees may find themselves struggling with how to utilize key Ignite insights to drive favorable business outcomes for their companies.

For those who attended Microsoft Ignite in May and are left feeling overwhelmed—or for those who were unable to attend altogether—Atrion invites the greater IT community to an event on Thursday, June 18, titled "Rewind of Microsoft Ignite: An Atrion Viewpoint." Taking place from 9 am to 4 pm at NEIT's East Greenwich Campus, the complimentary event will bring attendees face-to-face with Atrion Microsoft experts who will walk attendees through the main themes covered at Ignite.

"We've heard from a number of our clients and key partners that it can be exceedingly challenging in the days following a robust technology trade show to successfully extract pertinent sentiments to drive business change immediately," Atrion Chief Innovation Officer Chris Poe said. "Microsoft Ignite is tailored to 'big thinkers looking for an edge' but even these big thinkers can feel lost following a massive event."

"The goal of 'Rewind of Microsoft Ignite' is to revisit some of those significant claims made at the event and give attendees a deeper look at how to apply those claims to their unique business needs," he added.

Attendees will have the chance to engage firsthand with Atrion subject matter experts on how to conceptualize a plan for a new technology implementation and learn more about Atrion's offering around Office 365. They can also review some of the most talked about concepts of the May event.
