Less Paperwork for Parents and Schools

Monday Envelope Partners With HelloSign to Help Make Wasteful Permission Slips & School Forms Obsolete

Las Vegas, July 22nd, 2015 — As part of the SXSW V2 Venture Conference, V2V Finalist, Monday Envelope, is excited to announce a unique partnership with eSignature leader, HelloSign. “No longer will parents and teachers waste valuable time with mountains of redundant and unnecessary paper forms,” said Monday Envelope CEO, Bryn Boughton. “The ability to collect signatures with a few clicks is a radical advancement towards our mission of simplifying parent engagement. In HelloSign we’ve found the perfect partner. Their easy-to-use API has made life so easy for our team and has enabled us to offer this highly-anticipated feature much earlier than we thought and before any other company in our space.”

Parent/school groups rely on Monday Envelope’s single-sign-on platform to streamline and centralize all of their communication and fundraising activities. This new partnership adds the ability to collect legally binding electronic signatures on common forms like waivers. “HelloSign and Monday Envelope have a shared commitment to simplify lives, so the partnership was a natural fit,” says HelloSign CEO and Co-founder, Joseph Walla. “We’re thrilled to help eliminate the paperwork pain points that so many parents have dreaded until now.”
