

Renderings to Reality™

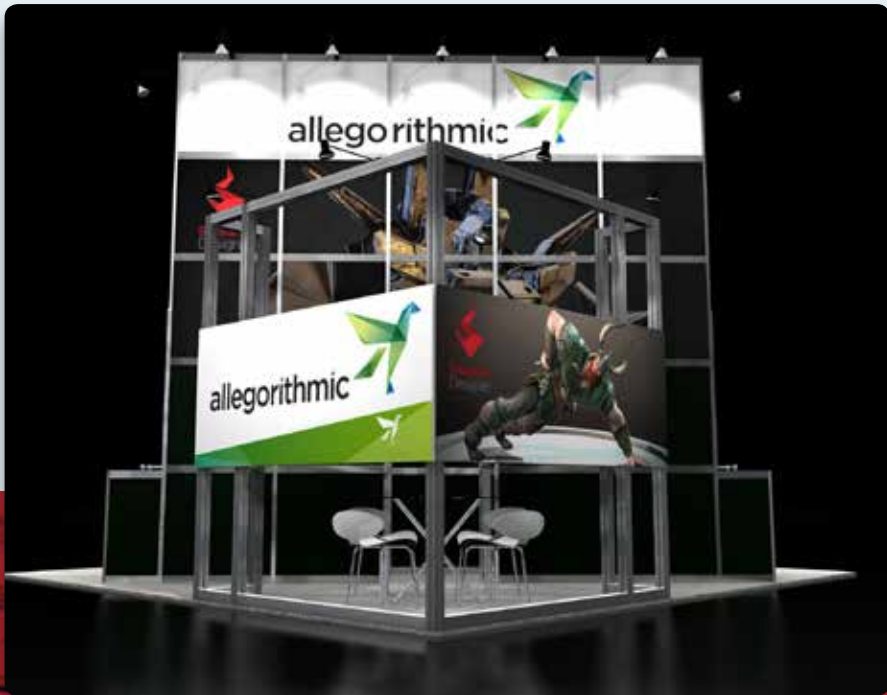

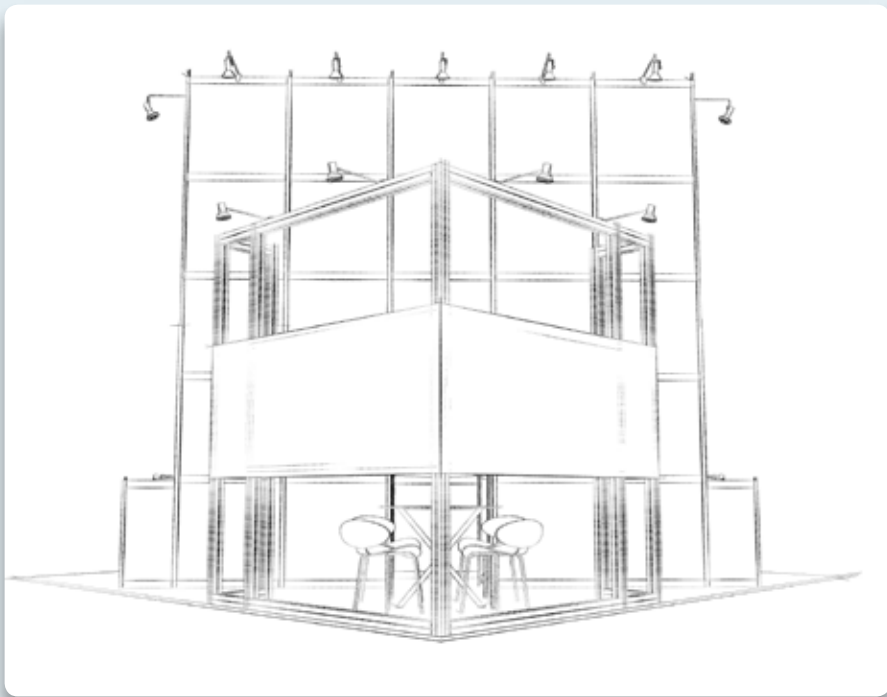

ABSOLUTE
EXHIBITS

Taking our client's ideas and visions and turning them into reality. At Absolute Exhibits we pride ourselves on building the design that we have sold to our clients. That may sound very basic, but it is not. Look around the world of exhibit house websites and most of what you see are renderings. Beautiful, color renderings of great ideas – right there on the paper. However, did they ever come to completion? And if so, do the actual exhibit builds look like the drawings?

Here is what we do at Absolute Exhibits - using our Rental Briefing and Design Request Form our team of designers begin a project with conceptual drawings. These are reviewed and revised by the client and their account executive. Changes are made prior to a 3-Dimensional set of full color renderings are created in Cinema 4D – a state of the art technology. Once a contract is signed the project moves to our Engineering Department where detailed plans are drawn pre-construction. Finally the exhibit moves to the fabrication department, where it is built and sent to the show for installation and photography.

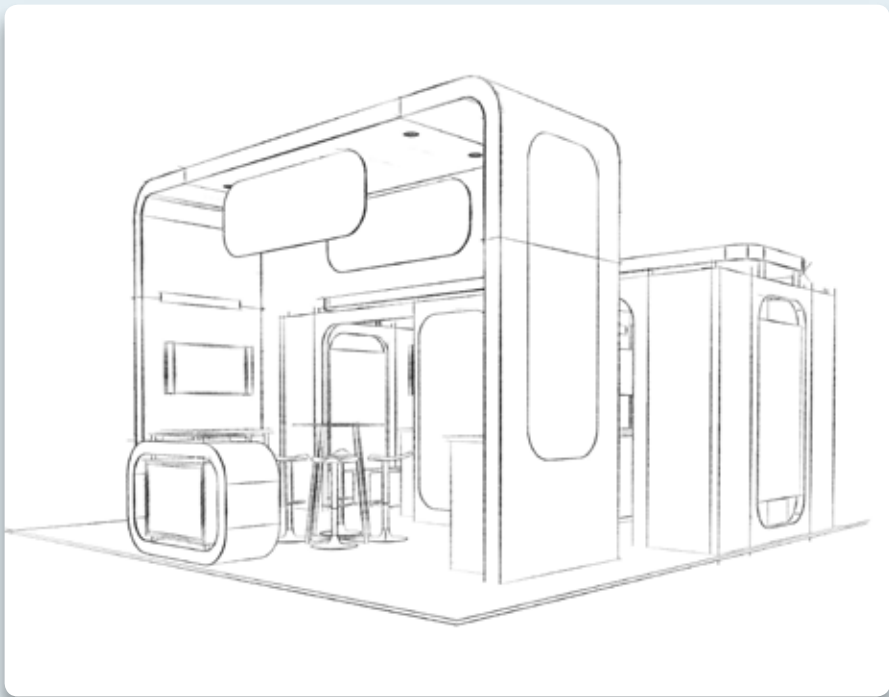

Pretty simple plan. You dream, we draw, you modify, we manufacture, and then we all move to the show floor to see your imagination come to life.
