

Dan Zastawny
President
TruMarx Data Partners, Inc.

Mr. Zastawny has over 20 years of leadership experience developing marketplaces and electronic trading in natural gas, power and crude oil markets. Dan has held senior management roles within the energy industry specializing in the areas of market development, electronic trading, risk management and regulatory compliance. His involvement in the formation and development of the Natural Gas Exchange (NGX) and the growth of Net Energy, Inc., brings tremendous experience to the TruMarx Data Partners team. Mr. Zastawny was part of the original TruMarx organization in 2011 helping develop COMET in Canada and the West Coast of the United States.

Mr. Zastawny was most recently Chief Compliance Officer with Net Energy, Inc., where he led multiple key strategic projects for the company and facilitated the expanded use of hedging products for the Canadian crude oil markets and developing technology to support trading turnover and liquidity. Prior to that role, he served as Vice-President of Business Development for the business. Dan has held other prior industry executive positions serving as President and Founder of Grass Shack Analytics and multiple executive positions with Natural Gas Exchange, Inc., ("NGX"). Dan attended the University of Calgary and currently resides in Calgary, Alberta Canada.
