

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
23rd November 2015

Moodle Welcomes Edunao as latest Certified Moodle Partner in France.

On the back of releasing its best version to date, Moodle 3.0, Moodle adds to its growing network of certified service providers with the addition of new Moodle Partner, Edunao.

PERTH, Western Australia — Moodle, the world's open source learning platform, today announces Edunao as a new certified Moodle Partner in France. Edunao has long contributed to the Moodle project as a member of the global Moodle community. Now as a Moodle Partner, the organisation will use the Moodle trademark and provide certified Moodle services to its customers, while helping to financially support core Moodle development.

"After years contributing to the work of the Moodle community, the Edunao team is proud to join the network of Moodle Partners" commented Cyril Bedel (CEO) and Valéry Frémaux (CTO) of Edunao. "Becoming a Moodle Partner gives Edunao direct access to Moodle HQ innovation. Edunao is happy to join the Moodle Partners community to better serve its clients and partners."

Edunao recognises and embraces the digital transformation of education and provides online learning solutions for the changing environment. Committed to lifelong learning, Edunao offers comprehensive technical assistance and e-learning services to support schools, universities and businesses across the K12, Higher Ed and ProEd sectors.

Martin Dougiamas, Founder and CEO of Moodle, said "We're so pleased to have Edunao, a company with proven experience with Moodle and a genuine passion for digital learning, join the Moodle Partner group. Their extensive knowledge of Moodle enables them to deliver high quality services to current and future Moodle users in France."

The Moodle Partner network continues to expand, now with over 70 certified organisations based in over 45 countries worldwide.
