Charitable Trust to Promote Justice for Native Americans

Gettysburg, SD - October 17, 2015: The Lorna Rochelle Ducheneaux Trust announces a new charitable trust to benefit tribal nations.

The Lorna Rochelle Ducheneaux Trust is a trust dedicated to the strengthening of tribal governments through the development and advocacy of tribal courts by providing scholarships, training and mentoring for people working in the tribal judicial system.

Founded by Judge Rochelle Ducheneaux in 2015, the Trust is focused on promoting victim's rights through the establishment of robust tribal judicial systems.

- “My goal is to make the tribal judicial system stronger and more accessible,” said Judge Ducheneaux. “Domestic violence is a plague on reservations and I hope, through my foundation, to create a fair and consistent application of the law.”
- Judge Ducheneaux was fundamental establishing the Cheyenne River Sioux Tribal Mobile Court—a one of a kind service to for people living in remote areas of the reservation.

For more information or to make charitable contributions, please contact Keith Overland at the Lorna Rochelle Ducheneaux Trust, 619-602-1225 or email at Info@DucheneauxTrust.org.
