North-West College Recognizes Citrus Valley Health Partners as 2015 Distinguished Clinical Partner
Distinction Emphasizes Ongoing Partnership to Train Qualified Health Care Professionals

WEST COVINA, Calif.—North-West College (NWC) recently honored Citrus Valley Health Partners (CVHP) with its 2015 Distinguished Clinical Partner Award. The award highlights the long-time clinical partnership between the College and Citrus Valley Health Partners, a family of hospitals and a hospice, serving nearly one million residents of the East San Gabriel Valley. CVHP is home to Inter-Community Hospital, Queen of the Valley Hospital, Foothill Presbyterian Hospital and Citrus Valley Hospice and Home Health.

"We are honored to receive this important recognition from our clinical partners at North-West College," said Paul Heredia, Chief Human Resources Officer for CVHP. "We understand the importance of educating our future health care professionals and are privileged to work alongside the North-West College Team to provide the best clinical education."

As a clinical partner, Citrus Valley Health Partners enables NWC students to put into practice what they have learned in the classroom. In addition, North-West College provides CVHP employees with a variety of training and short-term programs that are tailored to keep them on the leading edge of technological advancements and changing health care industry standards.

Mitchell Fuerst, President of North-West College, will present the award to Citrus Valley Health Partners at NWC's annual Holiday Luncheon and award ceremony on Friday, December 11 at 1 p.m. at the Pacific Palms Resort in the City of Industry, Calif. "It is organizations like Citrus Valley Health Partners that make it possible for us to change lives through quality career education and training. We are proud to partner with CVHP in pursuit of this mutual goal," said Fuerst.
