

The Curbside Guide answers the call for greater diagnostic efficiency among veterinary practitioners. Developed by clinical sonographers and internal medicine specialists who work and consult with referring veterinarians on a daily basis, it is a concise reference tool that everyone can use. A one stop shop for the most up-to-date information on the most commonly detected canine and feline diseases, The Curbside Guide emphasizes diagnostic efficiency — be it via ultrasound or other modalities — and outlines the best treatment options we know to be currently available.
