+SUPPLYR Case Study

Problem:

Eero and Supplyr are working together on the next generation of wifi routers. Pre-launch, Eero approached Supplyr looking for a key plastic provider capable of high-quality finishes.

Solution:

Supplyr was able to turn around a competitive quote and DFM within days of the initial engagement. Communication and knowledge matched well with what Eero was looking for and tools were kicked off shortly after. Any debugging issues during ramp up were handled head-on immediately and resolved in time for launch date.

Outcome:

Finally, wifi that works. Ready to buy — on time.
