

Carl Reese Endurance Driver

Guinness World Record and Transcontinental Record Holder

Carl Reese is an American endurance driver who has set the most transcontinental driving records than anyone since Erwin “Cannonball” Baker. Carl and his team set seven world records in less than a one year period. The most notable of these runs was the solo motorcycle “Cannonball” from Los Angeles to New York that Reese set in 38 hours, 49 minutes.

Transcontinental Driving Records:

- Guinness World Record: Shortest charging time to cross the U.S. in an electric vehicle*.
- Fastest time to cross the U.S. in an electric vehicle*. (April 2015)
- First team to cross the U.S. in an autonomous (self-driving) vehicle*.
- Fastest time to cross the U.S. in an electric vehicle*. (October 2015)
- Double transcontinental electric vehicle record*.
- Solo motorcycle record*.
- Fastest Lap of Moorea on 125 cc scooter.

Reese’s ambitious accomplishments have been featured in hundreds of media outlets.

Carl partners with the Motorcycle Relief Project, a 501(c)3 nonprofit that provides relief to combat veterans suffering with PTSD and other injuries by taking them on structured, professionally-led multi-day motorcycle adventures. The trips help veterans decompress, learn stress management tools, and connect with other veterans with whom they have something in common.

Carl is currently working on a feature-length documentary called “Iron Riders: History of Motorcycle Records.” Born in Mercer, Pennsylvania, he currently resides in Pine Mountain Club, California. Outside of setting transcontinental driving records, Reese is a licensed general contractor, certified home inspector and environmental specialist.

Carl Reese is currently on a speaking tour and is available to speak about his driving adventures internationally. For more information visit www.carlreese.net or contact (661) 270-6653.
