Paradigm Tax Group Secures Three-Year Contract with IDI Gazeley

National Investor Owns 47 Million Square Feet of Industrial Real Estate

JLL, the property management firm for IDI Gazeley (IDIG), a leading global investor and developer of logistics warehouses and distribution parks, has selected Paradigm Tax Group (Paradigm) to represent IDIG's 150+ property portfolio consisting of 47 million square feet of industrial real estate located in several markets nationwide. The assignment will consist of a variety of property tax services including Real and Personal Property Tax Consulting, Personal Property Compliance, Tax Bill Processing, Budgeting and Tax Estimates.

"Paradigm's responsiveness, quality of content, national platform and impressive history of success in the industrial sector really set them apart," said Rob Kossar, Executive Managing Director and Head of Industrial Investor Services for the Americas at JLL. "In addition, the capabilities within their National Portfolio Database System, Ascend, will provide us with the level of insight and direct interaction we have been seeking for our portfolio."

"High-touch client service, consistency and value creation are all values that Paradigm and IDIG share, creating an ideal collaboration and setting the stage for efficient portfolio representation of a significant number of industrial assets," said Mark Wanic, Chief Executive Officer at Paradigm Tax Group. "We have the right industrial experts on the ground in each of these markets to execute IDIG's strategy and to help minimize the tax burden of their portfolio."
