About Bluescreek Farm Meats

The inspiration behind Bluescreek Farm Meats is deeply rooted in doing things the old-fashioned way. Breaking down whole animals and utilizing every piece possible. Having freshly made sausages, while excluding un-necessary additives.

Bluescreek Farm Meats is a true farm to table family-owned business, operated by the husband and wife team, Cheryl and David Smith.

Since 1993, the Smith family has been raising hormone and antibiotic-free beef, pork, lamb, veal and goat on their Marysville family farm and delivering it to their stall inside the Historic North Market as well as supplying several restaurants and chefs with quality meats in the Columbus, Ohio area.

The new facility will offer easy access from the interstate, offers plenty of free parking as well as ADA access. And best of all, it's just a short, beautiful scenic drive from the Columbus area.
