

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Myknock now supports Honeywell’s Lyric Round™ Wi-Fi Thermostat enabling Climate Control from Anywhere, Anytime, helping people Unify, Control and Share their Digital Lives

Myknock is an innovative service for consumers providing a unified dashboard to manage and support multiple IoT devices and services with user-based profiles, management and sharing for all family members in the household.

TORONTO, ON – May 24, 2016 – Myknock announced that Honeywell’s Lyric Round™ Wi-Fi thermostat is now supported, adding a valuable new member to the growing “Works with Myknock” family of Connected Life devices and services. This announcement builds on the existing capabilities of Myknock that provide consumers the unprecedented ability to unify, control, share and manage their digital lives. Myknock directly addresses the growing problem of multiple and incompatible apps that come with each new device or service as people introduce new things into their homes and digital lifestyles. Myknock is the only solution of its type that seamlessly works for all of the members in a household by applying user-based profiles that allow granular access sharing and control privileges to family members as desired. The Works with Myknock logo provides consumers with a way to know that devices and services bearing that mark will be compatible with the Myknock platform.

“We are very pleased to add the Lyric thermostat to Myknock. These beautifully designed devices are feature rich and make a great addition to people’s homes and to the Myknock family. With Myknock, users can now easily share climate control to multiple members of their household without sharing their password. Users can also manage remote locations like cottages from one convenient app by simply bringing up the Lyric thermostat on the Myknock dashboard” said Sumit Parab, Head of Product at Myknock.

Myknock provides several advantages:

- Myknock unifies the digital life to a single mobile dashboard – one app for all devices and services

- Myknock makes it easy to share Honeywell Lyric thermostats with your family and friends using its advanced capabilities to grant access and control privileges on a user-by-user bases to every member of the household and beyond
- The “Works with Myknock” branding ensures consumers that devices and services bearing the mark will seamlessly integrate with Myknock, vastly improving and simplifying their experience
- Myknock works globally in the cloud, so all that’s needed is a smartphone or a web browser to control and manage your Honeywell Lyric thermostat and other digital life devices and services from anywhere

“We are very proud to have worked with such a well-established and respected company as Honeywell. We see this as a credible example of how Myknock is working with best-in-breed partners to enhance the digital lives of Myknock users”, said Brantz Myers, Head of Business for Myknock.
