“Energizing Myanmar Oil/Gas Production & Electricity Supply Growth!”

Several international firms are now preparing to step up activity and this anticipated increase in activity highlights the need for a local offshore supply base to improve economics and efficiency.

Many local and foreign firms are looking forward to this bankable and attractive infrastructure project, and a tender to build and operate multiple bases, to be issued by MOGE in the coming months.

To cope with the growing demand and while waiting for the existing refineries to be upgraded, new oil storage terminals and jetties have to be installed to facilitate the oil products imports. Local and foreign companies are looking to tap into the growing fuel import, retailing and oil storage business.

Attend CMT's 4th Myanmar Oil & Gas Summit (MOGS) for all these developments and the latest updates. Evaluate the opportunities in the country's upstream and downstream oil and gas sectors.

Extensive networking benefits with new team of senior officials and vital sessions for discussion includes:

- How Natural Gas, LNG and Mini-LNG can be integrated in Myanmar's energy portfolio
- Multilateral banks & energy majors' perspectives/aspiring roles in the burgeoning power sector
- PSC Updates on upstream oil/gas block tenders
- Latest development on the offshore & onshore E&P activities in Myanmar
- Myanmar's EPC markets & challenges in material sourcing & skilled employment
- Myanmar offshore supply base tender & updates
- Demand outlook for petroleum products (gasoline, lpg, etc) & growing import requirement, storage facilities & etc
- Case study of Thilawa fuel storage terminal & experience on fuel distribution in Myanmar

Post-Summit Workshop
Mini LNG Supply Chain for Myanmar
18 Nov 2016 (14:00 - 17:30 hrs.)

Outline of the workshop:

- Overview of the LNG Value Chain
- Updates on Global LNG & Supply Business
- LNG Infrastructure – Liquefaction Plants, Shipping (and Freight), Regasification, Receiving Terminals
- LNG-Based Power Plants, Economics & Flexibility of Dual-Fuel Technology
- LNG Project Development & Financial Services in Myanmar

Objectives & who should attend:

- During this half-day workshop, participants will learn about the full mini-LNG value chain and how (economics and feasibility) small-sized LNG based Power Generation projects can accelerate the generation capacity and ensure sustainable electricity supply in Myanmar.
- This workshop will benefit federal and state governments, management, operations and technical personnel who wish to broaden their knowledge of the mini-scale LNG business. Also, attendees are welcomed from various backgrounds including technology, finance, legal and project development areas.
