Our Approach

KMRD Partners' Benefits & Human Capital Solutions Practice applies a disciplined approach.

It begins with a thoughtful Discovery Process to gather information about the organization. We complete a competitive analysis, review the organization and human resources strategy as well as the talent management framework and how an effective total rewards program can have a positive impact on individual and business performance.

The next step is to analyze information and data collected. Our team interprets information and data for comparison against best practices. Your existing program structure, value and costs are analyzed against industry benchmarks, compliance burdens and market competitiveness. We factor into the process your business and human resources strategy.

We then collaborate with organizational leaders and employee groups to Develop Strategies to enhance program design and align it to best practices and employee value while being mindful of economics. Once strategies are clearly defined, a service strategy map is finalized and our team Deploy Solutions and integrates a process for Monitoring results.
