

World's Smallest Windows 10 Laptop Available At Chinavasion

Chinavasion launches the world's smallest laptop; the GPD Windows Gamepad aimed at satisfying their customer's ever growing demands for mini laptops.

Laptops and tablets are popular among consumers who long for a compact device that can fulfill all their work and gaming requirements while on the go. However these devices are still bulky and have their limitations.

The GPD Laptop and gamepad addresses these issues and is like having a powerful gamepad with complete keyboard and full computer functions all wrapped up in a compact pocket size package that is not much larger than a Smartphone.

So much more than a regular handheld game console, the GPD mini laptop runs on a licensed Windows 10 Operating System and brings the latest hardware. "By packing all this state-of-the-art hardware in its small body, this Windows tablet PC truly makes powerful computing portable and affordable." advised Ms. Rose Li, PR Manager at Chinavasion.

Although popular among everyday consumers, average mini laptops and tablet PCs bring along limited power and efficiency so are not able to tackle the full array of demanding computing tasks. With a Quad-Core CPU, clocked at 2.4GHz, 4GB of RAM and an Intel HD Graphic unit, the GPD Windows 10 mini laptop is sure to address these issues and aims to make a change in the market.

Offering a true PC-like experience, this handheld game console lets consumers enjoy all the regular Windows features along with a true PC gaming experience and HD movies on its 5.5 Inch display.

Ms. Li confirmed, "With the launch of the GPD Windows 10 mini laptop, the dream of owning a gaming laptop that fits in one's pocket is now an affordable reality."

Besides its standard laptop design that features a QWERTY keyboard, this Windows tablet PC comes with a D-Pad, two Analog joy sticks, A, B, X, and Y Buttons – as well as L1, L2, R1, and R2 controls.
