FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Graphic Communications, Inc. Introduces Expanded Narrow Web Printing and Flexible Packaging Capabilities with their New HP Indigo WS6800 Digital Press

Graphic Communications, Inc., a provider of comprehensive custom pressure sensitive label and flexible packaging print services located in Warminster, PA, introduces expanded digital printing capabilities with their new HP Indigo WS6800 digital press.

Warminster, PA (PRWeb)—March 21, 2017 - Graphic Communications, Inc. (GCI), a full service custom digital label and flexible packaging printer, recently upgraded their Digital Department with the purchase of an HP Indigo WS6800 digital press and can now offer expanded capabilities such as faster production, enhanced print and color quality, wider application versatility and media substrate diversity.

GCI is able to offer a greater diversity of narrow web labels and flexible packaging options, including serialization and shrink sleeve, helping GCI to service their customers more effectively.

According to President Loretta Andrews, "Corporate brand consistency and helping our clients find solutions so they can respond quickly to market demands, are two key elements of our corporate philosophy. The 6800 allows us to expand on the services which support that. With the enhanced color gamut, in-line priming of substrates and quicker production speeds, we are already realizing the benefits of the 6800 after only a few weeks in production."
