airberlin superseller incentive program now available for qualified travel agents airberlin has just launched a new rewards program for qualified travel agents providing increased incentive for sales on airberlin. With every airberlin booking (AB 745 tickets) travel agents can collect points that are converted to topbonus award miles, airberlin's loyalty program enabling agents to redeem these miles for reward flights, upgrades or additional services. These miles can also be used for purchasing merchandise or service vouchers in the topbonus shop.

Who qualifies? Any agency owner or individual authorized by the owner who registers for the program. Registration can be done online at airberlin-superseller.com. The agency owner controls if the points can be collected individually. Once registered the agent will receive a PIN code to be entered into each airberlin reservation ticketed on (AB 745) stock to accumulate points. Points are awarded for every USD dollar of the net flight price once the ticket is flown. Collected points are then converted to reward miles for agency redemption. For any further information on the program and FAQ's visit airberlin-superseller.com or contact your local airberlin sales representative.
