IGMAS Achieves Prestigious PCI-QIR Status

IGMAS Technologies receives its QIR certification complying with PCI DSS Compliance Standards to protect its customers against payment data breaches

Los Angeles, CA - July 25, 2017 - IGMAS Technologies, a leading provider of hospitality infrastructure, application management, and support services, announced today that it has achieved the prestigious PCI-QIR status documenting its commitment to the security of its clients and their various business operations. PCI DSS provides a baseline of technical and operational requirements designed to protect payment card account data, and is intended for merchants and service providers, and any entity that stores, processes or transmits cardholder data (CHD) and/or sensitive authentication data (SAD). In an effort to help reduce the risk of data theft from hackers, Visa has announced small merchants must use IT solutions providers that have achieved QIR certification. Visa advised acquirers that as of March 31, 2016, all new Level 4 merchants must use only Payment Card Industry (PCI)-certified QIR solutions providers for point-of-sale application installations and integration. This has become a real concern for hotels and gaming operators across the globe.

IGMAS has been diligently serving Hospitality and Gaming for over a decade and fully understands the complexity of the industry, its compliance requirements, its most common concerns with infrastructure, and how best to integrate two-factor authentication, encryption, and EMV into property solutions.

"As a dedicated team of hospitality technology professionals with decades of experience, we look forward to changes in the hospitality security landscape and look forward to holding local integrators and sub-standard hospitality service providers to a higher standard for the betterment of the entire industry." noted IGMAS President Michael Breindel.
