EDELWEISS DIRECT VENEER SYSTEM

Edelweiss, meaning "noble-white," brings back warm memories of a little, white blossom from the Austrian mountains embedded in an amazing narrative. Edelweiss-Dentistry is coming to North America. For those of us who remember the film "Sound of Music" as comfortably as the lyrics "every morning you greet me, small & white, clean & bright!"

In Austria today, small, white veneers are manufactured in complete kits by Edelweiss-Dentistry, a world leading manufacturer of a direct chair-side process. Edelweiss is pleased to announce a new partnership with Evolution Dental Science, a top leading dental laboratory in the USA. The partnership calls for a new laboratory-assisted veneer system that will provide more consistency and predictability to their direct and in-direct veneer procedures.

"The Edelweiss laser process allows for Dentists to have confidence in restoring patients' smiles chair-side, while knowing that they have support from their laboratory, when necessary," stated Andy Jakson, President of Evolution Dental Science. "This is the first direct, lab-assisted, delivery system."

» We anticipate that Edelweiss is going to open up options for veneers to people that previously never believed that they would be able to afford the 'Hollywood Smile' that they always dreamed of.

- Andy Jakson

Evolution Dental Science, along with its "Elite Lab" and dealer networks will also provide lectures, training, and laboratory services for chair-side or lab- assisted cases." Said Michael Thompson, a longtime industry executive and General Manager for Edelweiss—Dentistry, North America.

The inspiration behind Edelweiss is to provide an affordable, minimally invasive, chair side veneer system and a beautiful smile for everyone." stated Dr. Stephan Lampl, Founder & CEO of Edelweiss-Dentistry. "Utilizing the most advanced technology, our veneers are strong, and provide a highly finished, long lasting, inorganic, biomechanical aesthetic restoration."

Edelweiss-Dentistry, and its new partner Evolution Dental Science, are prepared to help provide a beautiful smile for every person.
