Smart Kids with Learning Disabilities Announces the 2018 Fred J. Epstein Youth Achievement Award

We are pleased to announce that nominations are now being accepted for the 2018 Fred J. Epstein Youth Achievement Award. This $1,000 award recognizes the strengths and accomplishments of young people with learning disabilities and ADHD. It will be given to a student 19 or younger who has demonstrated initiative, talent and determination resulting in a notable accomplishment in any field—including art, music, science, math, athletics or community service. Honorable Mentions will also be awarded.

The award will be presented at the Smart Kids with Learning Disabilities 18th Anniversary Benefit at the Indian Harbor Yacht Club in Greenwich, CT on the evening of Friday, April 27th. Transportation and hotel accommodations will be provided for the winning student and his/her parents.

The winner of the 2017 Award is Mory Gould from Potomac, MD, a nationally ranked diver with aspirations for the 2020 Summer Olympics. Mory, age 17, joined the top-ranked diving team this fall at Indiana University, where he was accepted into the Honors College and plans to study biology.

A Special Recognition Award was presented to Paige Christie of Brookfield, WI. Five honorable mentions were awarded as well. To view the 2017 award winners, please visit <http://www.smartkidswithld.org/2017-fred-j-epstein-youth-achievement-award-honorees/>

“I believe all kids have strengths and the key is to find that strength, nurture it and pursue it. Not every student succeeds at school. But every student has a special talent and can be successful.” — MORY GOULD

“What I say to children with learning disabilities is: We’re like anybody else in terms of intelligence. But we’re wired differently. If we were in the majority, we’d be trying to figure out how to teach them!”
