The Money Source Names Kirstin McMullen Chief Financial Officer

Brings More Than 25 Years Of Financial Experience To The Position

MELVILLE, N.Y. (Dec. 13, 2017) — The Money Source Inc. (TMS) hired Kirstin McMullen as chief financial officer, bringing more than 25 years of financial experience to the position.

In her new role, McMullen will be responsible for helping oversee TMS's massive expansion plans as it seeks to rapidly grow on multiple fronts, including mortgage servicing, correspondent lending, wholesale lending and retail lending.

Before joining the company, McMullen was chief financial officer at Computershare Loan Services, where she managed finance and accounting for all of the company's various mortgage-related product offerings.

McMullen has also held C-suite positions at other companies, including Real Mortgage Systems Inc. and Rosemont Realty.

Her lengthy financial background includes experience in raising debt and equity, M&A transactions, financial modeling and budgeting and overseeing production of audited financial statements.

"I am excited to join a growing company with true employee engagement at all levels, creating an energy special to TMS. I hope to help TMS evolve into a fintech company of the future for years to come," said McMullen.

McMullen's addition strengthens a talented and expanding leadership team at TMS that is redefining the mortgage experience for borrowers, brokers and lenders. TMS's renowned corporate culture, commitment to innovation and bright future were key factors in McMullen's decision to join the company.

"The Money Source is committed to hiring the best talent in the industry," said Darius Mirshahzadeh, CEO of The Money Source. "Kirstin is a remarkable financial mind, possesses true leadership skills and has an impressive track record of accomplishing industry-leading results at scale. We're pleased to have her join our leadership team as we build TMS into the most loved fintech brand in the nation."
