ION EXHIBITS ANNOUNCES TWO NEW PORTABLE PRODUCT LINES

Leading exhibits provider adds new portable exhibit options that delivers increased speed for tool-less setup, outstanding affordability, and delivers a custom look

Itasca, IL (April 10, 2018): Ion Exhibits has added two new product lines in the portable exhibits category that take portable exhibits to a new professional and modular level in the exhibit world.

IMPACT Portable Display Systems combine the standard features of a portable display that allow for easy carrying and setup with innovative accessories and elements that provide a functional modularity. Companies looking to add to their booth properties in a cost-effective manner without sacrificing a professional look and customized modular design will greatly benefit from this product line.

IGNITE Portable Display Systems take the IMPACT line a step further, designing LED lighting components that are housed directly in the frame structure. This innovative design provides backlit graphics without cumbersome and tool dependent electrical set-up. With easy installation and tension graphics, the IGNITE Portable Display Systems give easy reconfiguration options with the added benefit of portability.

“These new tool-less product lines give our clients additional options that are both cost effective and innovative,” commented Kevin Fett, President of Ion Exhibits. “Our commitment is to provide new designs and engineered booth options to our customer base. These two new product lines in portable exhibits are just a sampling of the design options that are available with Ion.”
