

Why Will “Elsewhere” Be Competitive?

by

Frank Danger

Please View Table of Contents

Please View the Introduction

(3,350 Words)

Contents

Introduction ..... 3

We Want Students to Have an Attachment to God..... 4

Discussing Family Planning Issues ..... 4

Young Adults Need to Go God ..... 5

Our Young Adults and Reject Negative Peer Pressure..... 5

Young Adults and God’s Love ..... 6

The Difference Between Good and Evil..... 6

Helping Young Adults to Find God..... 7

Young Adults and Substance Abuse ..... 7

Conclusion ..... 8

Introduction

We all love our kids and young adults. We do everything for our kids and young adults. We suffer when they get sick. We suffer when they have a life-threatening accident. We suffer when something goes wrong with them.

Something is wrong with our young adults. Some of them want to be sexually active. Some of them want to engage in high-risk sexual behaviors. Some of them do not want to do well in school. Some of them want to experiment with illegal substance abuse. Some of them are fascinated by weapons. Some of them are fascinated by committing crimes. Some of them smoke. Some of them think that drinking alcohol is a good dietary supplement for the body.

We all answer to a One True God. Our One True God has been suffering over us for centuries. Our One True God gives us the impression that we can do anything that we want. God makes us think that we do not need to face any consequences because of what we do. God will challenge us to believe that we can get away with doing anything wrong or by committing any crime.

Every human being in the world is under surveillance by the God and by the Holy Spirit. Practically no one understands that on this planet. We think that we have just gotten away with committing a crime and then we face a surprise. God and the Holy Spirit have presented a mountain of evidence against us that calls for our arrest and indictment. We do not know that God and the Holy Spirit laugh at us when we think that we commit crimes.

We have to deal with our young adults. We do not accomplish anything by incarcerating them for doing things that are illogical. We do not accomplish anything by torturing them through incarceration for the rest of their lives. We do not accomplish anything by refusing to forgive them for their mistakes. We have nothing to gain by removing them from society when they do something wrong.

Our psychiatrists and psychotherapists need to help our kids and young adults. We need to get our kids and our young adults medical treatment for psychiatric disorders or whatever is causing them to misbehave. We need psychotherapists to find the problems and to work with psychiatrists, educators, and parents to find the problems and how to solve the problems.

The truth is that our kids and young adults need Behavioral Training and Criminal Justice Training starting at a young age. We should never just give up on a child or on a young adult.

We must reject any type of destructive discipline that looks to destroy a student’s academic career and that destroys a student’s life. We must encourage the students in a school to go to God to try to receive help with their behavioral problems. We must encourage educators, parents, and students to go to God for help in dealing with any student that might be misbehaving by no fault of his or her own.

We have to remember that God exists to help all of our students in both public and private schools. Public-school students should not be disqualified from doing things in order to reach the help of God. A student that is in trouble in a public school should be encouraged to pray and to find the God that helps all of us in our lives. That will help students with behavioral disorders to find help and to recover from whatever illness is causing him or her to misbehave. Our students deserve such help.

Why Will Elsewhere Be Competitive?

We Want Students to Have an Attachment to God

We want to help our students to understand the advantages that they will enjoy if they engage in a daily communication with God through prayer. We want students to follow the will of God when they must make tough decisions about peer issues, family planning issues, and substance abuse issues.

We want our students to understand what the Love of God will mean in their lives if they engage in a daily communication with God in their lives. We want students to understand that God want them to reject alcohol, smoking, illegal drugs, weapons, and violence in their lives.

This book project will sell over other book projects because of the way that it will encourage students to invite God and the Holy Spirit to be part of their everyday lives. We help to explain the meaning of God’s love for them in plain and modern language. We want to encourage them to reject incarceration in a psychiatric facility or in a correctional facility. We want them to avoid homelessness. God and the Holy Spirit can give our young adults so many options in order to life a normal and safe life.

Our mission in our schools is to help us to understand how to set up a lifelong Attachment to God. We want our young adults to share their love with God and with their brothers and sisters of Humanity. God is so honored when a young adult chooses to show unconditional love for all of his sons and daughters of His and/or entire Human Family. God hopes that it will happen that way for all of His children in the future.

This book project will sell over other book projects because it will discuss these advanced issues about our relationships with God.

Discussing Family Planning Issues

We want to be respectful to parents and educators when we introduce young adults to family planning issues. We want all of our young adults to understand that that God creates all human and nonhuman life. God wants our young adults to understand that a woman’s body is “God’s Factory of Human Life.”

We want our young adults to understand that the creation of a human life comes out of a loving intimacy between a male partner, a female partner, and God. God cannot create a new human life without feeling the loving intimacy of a man and a woman that He feels would be candidates to achieve parenthood.

We help students that there are some adults, many adults, and those who refuse to achieve parenthood. Some adults simulate efforts to make a member of the same gender to become pregnant. A man cannot make a man pregnant. A woman cannot make a woman pregnant. Such people can become a candidate for an infection of a sexually transmitted disease if they continue to be reckless in front of God by continuing to many partners of the same gender until God decides to stop what they are doing once and for all.

We discuss the beauty of bringing a new human life into the world through childbirth. We talk about the fulfilment of developing a human life or human lives for the rest of our lives. Raising children is a beautiful way to love God and to bring happiness into our Human Family.

Young Adults Need to Go to God

Children pray to our One True God. God is part of the life of every child in the world. Children respond to God in everything that they do and that they learn in school. Our children share their love for God with the way that they show their love for the family members, their friends, their educators, and their caretakers. Everyone that is associated with a toddler and/or a child will exchange love with a toddler and/or a child.

How do we teach our young adults to go to God for help when they do not know what they are doing? Our young adults may be facing a crisis that they may not be able to either understand or to solve. Could a young adult go to God to have a conversation with Him about a problem that seems unsolvable?

God is always there to help us to solve our problems. God loves all of us. God is there for us 24/7. God and the Holy Spirit can detect our problems. They can talk to us to give us advice. We should not feel afraid to hear advice from God and/or the Holy Spirit. Our young adults are part of God and of the Holy Spirit. God and the Holy Spirit want our young adults to survive any crisis and to survive any disaster. God wants to be part of the way that a young adult will solve a major crisis.

The Holy Spirit has us under twenty-four hour a day surveillance. They understand a young adult's problems better than anyone else. It is fine for our young adults to feel comfortable in trying to seek help from God and from the Holy Spirit. They love our young adults. We would be surprised by how well our young adults will appear from a crisis because the help of God and because of the help of loved ones.

Our Young Adults and Reject Negative Peer Pressure

God and the Holy Spirit are very upset when a young adult gets an offer to use illegal drugs at a party or at a friend's house. Who teaches them to reject an offer to do dope and to reject that kind of negative peer pressure?

Do we have seminars in our schools that teach our young adults about the dangers of using illegal and recreational street drugs? Do we have counselors that tell our young adults the truth about what they will be facing if they accept an offer to begin using dope? Why is Substance Abuse Prevention Training not part of the curricula of so many different grammar schools and middle schools, high schools, and parochial high schools?

Does God have to teach young adults that illegal drugs are bad for them? Why are school not producing this kind of training for their students. Is it better to get lost as a career substance abuser and drug dealer than to avoid that fate if the student had been trained to reject drugs in his or her schools?

How many young adults understand what crystal meth is? How many young adults know what happens when we become addicted to pain killers on the streets? How many students know what it means to be in detox? What does it mean to be high on crack?

We can teach kids and young adults everything about God and the prophets. Why can we not teach them about the demons of substance abuse? Why do we allow the lives of our young adults to be destroyed because they do not know how to reject peers that want to do drugs?

We have to teach our kids and young adults not only to reject drug dealing peers but to also turn them into the police department for evaluation. Drug dealers and drug kingpins are bad peers. We must reject bad peers in order to make our communities safer for our families, our kids, our young adults, and for all of our students.

Young Adults and God’s Love

This book project will be competitive because it will talk about the love that God has for our young adults.

God must love kids and young adults very much if He worked with your mother and father to bring you and your siblings into the world and into Humanity. God must love you if you feel love from God, from Humanity, from your family, and from students and teachers every day. God must love our young adults if they always have food to eat and fluids to drink. God must love kids and young adults if they always have a government that cares about them.

God expects parents and schools to develop adults that understand how to love. These adults must have learned how to love others from their parents, family members, friends, educators, God, and the Holy Spirit. God expects young adults to grow into adults that will show love for others. God expects that adults that have training from many different influential people in their lives to want to show love for God and for Humanity without a problem.

However, there are psychiatric disorders that leave millions of people in a condition where they cannot connect with the Love of God. That is a terrifying failure. This is what is called a Detachment from God. Young adults that may suffer from a Detachment from God do not understand the concept of love. These young adults seem functional. However, they carry a problem where they cannot respond to the Love of God. We do not see this problem until it is too late. The young adult will be incarcerated in psychiatric facility or in a correctional facility such as a juvenile detention center.

Psychiatrists and therapists need to treat severely ill young adults that suffer from a detachment from God. A young adult cannot continue to exist as part of Humanity if he or she has no relationship with God. We have to recognize that this problem exists, and we have to deal with this problem until we solve it for all severely ill young adults.

The Difference Between Good and Evil

God has been trying to destroy evil for thousands of years. There is a problem. We are all part of God. We may be evil. God might try to destroy us. We are part of God. How does God exist after He destroys Part of Himself? God is a very loving Supreme Being. God will bring salvation to our existence. God will never give up on us.

We must try to teach our young adults to understand the difference between good and evil. Evil consists of forces that want to destroy human life. Evil wants to destroy God’s efforts to create human life. Evil wants to convince us that God deserves the pain and suffering when He sees a wrongful death from a murder or mass murder.

Evil enjoys the commission of murder. It is a pleasure for evil to cause death and destruction so that God will suffer. Evil has no sympathy for the suffering that it causes for Humanity.

God is trying to rebuild a Universe that has been destroyed by evil. There have been setbacks. However, we will achieve a dream of living in an existence with no evil in our lives.

We must teach our children and young adults how to be good boys and girls. We must work with God, the Holy Spirit, and our loved ones to program our kids to understand that they should live at peace with God and with the Holy Spirit. They should reject evil and live in peace with God.

Helping Young Adults to Find God

Our young adults must try to find God for so many different reasons. All young adults have a destiny. We must find God in our lives so that we can discover what our destiny is and how we can achieve our destiny. Young adults must work with God to find a spouse to marry and to give birth to children. There are some young adults that choose not to pursue parenthood but still love God. God can guide us to accept good peer pressure and to reject bad peer pressure. God can help our young adults to understand sexual activity and when it will be proper to begin to engage in sexual activity. Young adults need to find God so that they can ask for aid in solving problems in their lives.

We have to encourage kids and young adults to reach out to God through daily prayer. Our young adults work with God if He tries to contact them to help them or to ask them to help other persons in a desperate crisis.

God can guide our young adults to deal with consultations about sexual activity. A teenage boy and a teenage girl may be dating for a year. They may be considering consummation. God can talk to them to give them advice in order to help them to make the right decisions about their sexuality and their plans for sexual activity.

One of God’s biggest problems here on Earth is a young adult sexual activity. That can lead to a young adult pregnancy or a teenage pregnancy. It can also lead to a young adult sexually transmitted disease.

God gives young adults final warnings about sexual activity which He finds to be rude and offensive. Eventually, individuals that are involved in sexual activity that offends God will become infected with a sexually transmitted disease at the discretion of God. We can avoid this pain and suffering if we find God and allow Him to help us as young adults.

Young Adults and Substance Abuse

A powerful relationship with God will help young adults to understand that they have no use for engaging in substance abuse activities. God loves all of us. God suffers when He sees the behaviors of substance abusers.

God wishes that He could do more to help these desperate individuals. God wants to know why they do dope in the first place. Why do substance abusers destroy themselves for the rest of their lives? Is it God’s fault for not properly intervening in the substance abuser’s life when he or she was a young adult?

Schools have to stop ignoring the problem. Too many schools are graduating substance abusers and sex offenders. These are students that are in desperate need of help from God, from the Holy Spirit, from their families, and from psychiatric professionals. We have to teach them the truth about their dead-end street that comes from doing drugs.

Our schools must show a higher level of love for our students. Our students school be needed to undergo Substance Abuse Training and Prevention Seminars both in school and on television on a weekly basis. Substance Abuse Counselors should talk to our young adults in all grammar school, middle schools, and high schools about the benefits of rejecting dope. God wants substance abuse issues to be solved. He wants them to be solved at the young adult level of maturation. God wants our young adults to go through their lives as dope-free adults.

Conclusion

Our Elsewhere Projects have been about going deep into our schools to try to understand what has gone wrong with our beloved students. We are so sad when we hear about another lockdown or another tragedy in another school out there somewhere. Something has to be done about the suffering and crying that God is facing in front of His Human Family.

We have to love God. We have to know that He is crying. We have to know that He is in pain over what has been happening in our schools. God probably understands our schools better than anyone else. Unfortunately, our students and educators do not completely understand that all students and teachers answer directly to God. God’s intervention in our students’ education is the reason why they go ahead to learn and to grow as students.

Our teachers are teachers because they want to love our students by educating them. Educating students gives teachers a sense of fulfillment. We have to recognize the fact that they too suffer when school tragedies happen to us. We have to be strong as we appear before God with the intent of finally solving our problems with our schools and with our young adults once and for all. Humanity deserves that. God deserves that.

Our school problems and school disasters will end when we work with God to have the strength to believe that our love for our students will allow them to reach their true potential.