Energy Efficiency Education Dashboard®

HOW IT WORKS

To illustrate building performance, the dashboard communicates with the building automation system (BAS) or other devices to display the data in a way that's easy to understand

Display Building Efficiency And Create Environmental Awareness

QA Graphics' award winning Energy Efficiency Education Dashboard® (EEED), is a web application that creates occupant awareness through the display of building performance data, demonstrations, tips, and other interactive educational features. This product is ideal for schools and businesses wanting to incorporate interactive tools to educate your building occupants about energy data and green building features.

All data obtained for your EEED can be controlled and easily exported for reporting purposes. The application can also be displayed in a common area via large format kiosk display or on any web enabled device.

> "The solution looks great and is very user friendly. The interactive demonstrations are the most used feature on the dashboard, showing how the geothermal and solar panel systems work."
